

Productive Ramadan Worksheet for Busy Moms

Schedule Your Day Around Salah – Increase Barakah

Fajr

.....
.....
.....
.....
.....

POINTS

Dhuhr

.....
.....
.....
.....
.....

POINTS

Asr

.....
.....
.....
.....
.....

POINTS

Maghrib

.....
.....
.....
.....
.....

POINTS

Isha

.....
.....
.....
.....
.....

POINTS

Taraweeh

.....
.....
.....
.....
.....

POINTS

How to use this sheet?

- Spiritual development (i.e. Quran Recitation, Physical Sadaqah.
- Daily chores - Assign simple chores to young kids while you get the bigger duties done. Everyone is working together.
- Quiet time | Power nap.
- Mini - halaqah with children - Discuss Ramadan, why we fast, the example of the Prophet (SAW) and companions during Ramadan, and ask if they have any questions.
- One act of charity.

Give yourself 5 points if you've completed all activities with sincere intentions and hard work. (Deduct accordingly as well).

Aim for a full mark each day!

Don't lose momentum – At the end of your day, plan for tomorrow's M.I.Ts (Most Important Tasks) first.

.....

.....

.....

.....

Total Points

Use this space each day to journal about your Ramadan 2012 experience. At the end of Ramadan you'll have a collection of 30 entries which will document your struggles, achievements and spiritual development. Commit to yourself and watch as you develop your productivity, self-discipline and growth, bithni'Allah

DAY

Lined writing area for journaling.

